

IDEAL PROGRAM
COURSE SYLLABUS
SOC 299 DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Dear Student,

Please read the following course syllabus carefully, especially the course dates, times and location. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to communicate with the IDEAL office, your academic advisor, or the instructor.

The IDEAL degree-completion program is designed with the adult learner in mind. Adult learners approach learning with specific goals, want to be able to directly apply new learning to their work and personal lives, and tend to learn best when the coursework is problem-centered so that they are actively engaged in the learning process. In addition, adults bring rich and varied experience to the classroom, which becomes a valuable learning resource for other students.

The IDEAL Program assumes joint responsibility in the learning process. The activities and assignments in our classes build on the shared experience of all learners in each class. This is why each student's preparation, participation and interaction in class activities and discussions are critical to the success of each course. The accelerated format of each course requires a significant amount of time outside the classroom to prepare for and complete the course assignments. This varies between students and courses; however, students typically spend a minimum of ten-twelve hours per week on course material.

To participate in the IDEAL Program, it is expected that you will do the following:

1. Attend every class session. Be on time.
2. Obtain the required course materials prior to the first class session.
3. Complete the first assignment prior to the first class session and all subsequent assignments to the best of your ability.
4. Participate in the class discussions and demonstrate respect and consideration to the instructor and other students when they express themselves in discussion.

If you cannot perform these four expectations, it is recommended that you drop the course.

Missing one class session will drop the final grade by one letter grade (for example if the student earned a grade of "B" in the course, the final grade would be a "C"). If a student misses two or more classes a grade of F will be entered as their final grade.

Cheating and Plagiarism

It is the student's responsibility to become familiar with and adhere to the standards set forth in the policies on cheating and plagiarism as defined in Chapters 2 and 5 of the Key to UB <http://www.bridgeport.edu/pages/2623.asp> or the appropriate graduate program handbook

E-mail correspondence

It is imperative that you check your UB e-mail on a regular basis. All written correspondence, to include IDEAL and the University will be sent to you through his e-mail. The University can no longer correspond to your personal e-mail account(s).

Ethics Statement of Confidentiality

An integral component of an IDEAL course is student and faculty expression of personal experiences for the purpose of facilitating coursework. Students enrolled in the program are expected to honor confidentiality as it pertains to student disclosure. Shared information, comments, or opinions expressed by another student or the faculty member during the course of classroom discussion should never be used in a manner which is intended to humiliate, embarrass, harass, damage, or otherwise injure other students in their personal, public, or business lives. In addition, confidentiality must be upheld by not disclosing any information that would identify any particular individual.

Assignments & Grading Criteria:

Course Requirements/Evaluation Criteria:

Note: All assignments and papers must be typed or word processed. Margins may be no wider than one inch on each side and top/bottom. Please use Times New Roman, font size 12. Assignments/papers are due on the due date at the beginning of class. Assignments that are turned in late (after midnight of the original due date) are worth ½ if turned in on or before the next class, zero after that. Final papers/projects will not be accepted late.

COURSE VALUE – 100 POINTS

10 points – Attendance and Participation - Attendance and participation are key components to completing this course successfully. It is not possible to earn points in this area by simply showing up- you must also participate by asking questions and making thoughtful comments relevant to the reading and class material. Students who attend class late, or leave early earn pro-rated points for attendance.

20 points – Reflection Paper (2 papers due 11/5/13 and 11/12/13 – Topics listed in the Description of Weekly Sessions and Assignments Due below) - The reflection paper is an intellectual exercise to encourage students to critically examine their personal viewpoints, thoughts, reflections, and feelings generated by the readings. The reflection paper will be 4 pages in length. In their writing, students should reflect on the textbook content, independent reading/research (i.e. current events, books, professional research journals or any other pertinent material). Students should identify their insights, realizations, reactions and/or self-discoveries. Please do not include a review of the material. The reflection papers are a critical evaluation of the readings and reflect on the implications of the material as it applies to social policy and application with clients. Look for your own biases and those of others in your evaluation.

Include in your reflections, critical thinking questions that occurred to you as a result of your readings and your experiences at a service site or other environment. What issues would you like to discuss with your fellow students. If you are practicing critical thinking then new questions will constantly arise. Not having any questions is a warning sign that you are simply being fed information and accepting everything without critical reflection.

30 points – Reaction Paper of “A Typology of Domestic Violence” (Due 11/26/13) – Write a 5-page reaction paper on the book: “A Typology of Domestic Violence”. Provide your reaction to the author's key points and perspectives. Discuss the relevance of the author's perspective in understanding domestic violence and treating victims and the perpetrators of violence. Discuss whether you agree or disagree with the author's points and why. Identify insights you gained from the book and how these insights will help you in your work in the human services field or other areas of your life if you are not going into the human services field.

40 – Research Paper and In-Class Presentation (Due 12/3/13) – Write a 6-page research paper on an area of domestic violence that is of special interest to you. Include in your paper, research from professional journals and/or books (at least 5 sources). This paper is to be prepared uniquely for this course. References must be drawn primarily from sources other than the assigned readings and from professional, rather than popular sources. References sources must be cited according to APA criteria in your paper and a reference list must be attached to your paper.

Students will present a summary of their research in class the last night of the course.

Detailed instructions and/or grading rubrics will be distributed for each assignment.

ACADEMIC POLICIES

Attendance Policy

Classroom attendance is an integral part of the academic experience; therefore, students are expected to attend all class sessions. If an absence is unavoidable, the student, prior to class, should advise the instructor. Arrangements should be made at that time for additional assignments if appropriate. It is also expected that students arrive on time and not leave until the class is dismissed. Tardiness will result in a reduced grade for the course. If you cannot attend every class session you should consider dropping the course.

IMPORTANT:

- Missing one class session will drop the final grade by one letter grade (for example if the student earned a grade of “B” in the course, the final grade would be a “C”).
- Missing two or more class sessions will be cause for a failing grade.
- Note: For 15 week courses; missing two class sessions will result in a letter grade drop and three or more will cause a failing grade.

Incomplete grade

An incomplete may be given, at the discretion of the instructor, to those students who fail to complete assignments due the last day of your course. These would include absence from a final examination or inability to complete terminal assignments (papers, presentations) due to illness, employment conflicts, etc.

Incompletes will not be given to a student who fails to complete any assignment during the term. At the discretion of the instructor, these assignments could be completed no later than the last scheduled day of your class.

Cell Phones

Cell phones must be turned off while in the classroom. A cell phone call is disruptive and disrespectful to the other students in the class.

Academic Dishonesty

We are committed to intellectual integrity in our academic pursuits; therefore, the IDEAL program prohibits all forms of academic dishonesty. Academic dishonesty is normally defined as, but not limited to, the following two categories:

Cheating – Using inappropriate sources of information in an assignment or on a test. The following are examples of cheating taken from real student experiences:

Case #1: A student is enrolled in an introductory computer-programming course. He has co-workers who program in the same language as his final project. As the end of the term approaches, he wonders how he will find the time to get the project finished, and asks one of his co-workers for help. His co-worker hands him a disk with a complete program similar to the kind required for the course project. The student makes minor modifications to the program, and submits it under his own name.

Case #2: A student enrolled in a religious studies course has never taken a humanities or history course, and is unsure about how to structure a research paper. She is doing research on the World Wide Web, and comes across a paper written by a student from another university. Using her computer mouse, she copies and pastes the document into her word processor. She goes to great lengths to re-word the paper in her own style, but essentially leaves the content and organization the same.

Plagiarism – Intentional as well as unintentional failure to acknowledge sources as well as the use of commercially available so-called “research papers” without full recognition of the source. Presenting as one’s own, the ideas, words, or products of another. The following are examples of plagiarism taken from real student experiences:

Case #3: A student is conducting research for a Civil War research paper. He has reviewed work on the Internet as well as in the library. Finding helpful information, he has summarized his findings without citing his sources. He believes that minor paraphrasing is all that is necessary.

Case #4: A student is writing a paper that requires her to address specific topics and problems in the assigned course textbook. She takes the information directly from the textbook with slight modification, without giving any citation. She thinks that since it is the course textbook, she doesn’t have to use quotations or citations.

Academic dishonesty applies to all courses, assignments or exams completed by students and submitted as their own original work, whether in person or by electronic means. The University does not tolerate cheating in any form. It is a serious breach of conduct with serious consequences. Instructors have the right to determine the appropriate penalty for academic dishonesty in their own classes; generally, however, such acts will result in a failing grade for the assignment and/or the course. The penalty for subsequent acts of academic dishonesty may include expulsion.

More information on how to recognize plagiarism can be found at this site:
http://www.indiana.edu/~istd/plagiarism_test.html
