WoWMoM 2011 student travel grant goes to UB engineering student

Sumaya Abusaleh received $1,000 travel grant to attend the 12th IEEE International Symposium on a World of Wireless, Mobile and Multimedia Networks Conference (WoWMoM 2011) which will be take place at IMT Institute for Advanced Studies Lucca, Italy. The grant is sponsored through National Science Foundation (NSF).

IEEE WoWMoM 2011 aims to provide researchers and students a friendly and interactive forum for exchanging results and visions that shape the future of wireless, mobile and multimedia systems. It will feature a rich and diverse technical program, keynote speeches and panels involving high profile researchers from both academia and industry. The technical program is accompanied by an industrial track, a demonstration session, a PhD/Work-in-Progress forum, and a number of thematic pre-conference workshops.

Sumaya Abusaleh is a Jordanian student. She came to the United States in the year 2009 and joined as a full-time Ph.D student of Computer Science and Engineering at the University of Bridgeport. She has been pursuing her dissertation in the field of Multimedia over Wireless Sensor Networks, under the guidance of Professor Khaled Elleithy and Professor Ausif Mahmood. She is also a member of the Wireless and Mobile Communications Laboratory (WMC).
