PHIL 203 - Ethics IDEAL PROGRAM COURSE SYLLABUS ONLINE

Dear Student,

Please read the following course syllabus carefully, especially the course expectations and activities. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to communicate with the IDEAL office, your academic advisor, or the instructor.

The IDEAL degree-completion program is designed with the adult learner in mind. Adult learners approach learning with specific goals, want to be able to directly apply new learning to their work and personal lives, and tend to learn best when the coursework is problem-centered so that they are actively engaged in the learning process. In addition, adults bring rich and varied experience to the classroom, which becomes a valuable learning resource for other students.

The IDEAL Program assumes joint responsibility in the learning process. The activities and assignments in our courses build on the shared experience of all learners in each class. This is why each student's preparation, participation and interaction in class activities and discussions are critical to the success of each course. The accelerated format of each course requires a significant amount of time outside the classroom to prepare for and complete the course assignments. This varies between students and courses; however, students typically spend a minimum of ten-twelve hours per week on course material.

To participate in the IDEAL Program, it is expected that you will do the following:

- 1. Participate in and complete the online orientation prior to your first online course.
- 2. Obtain the required course materials prior to the course start date.
- 3. If you do not participate during the first week of the course, you will be dropped one letter grade. If a student doesn't participate for two or more weeks a grade of "F" will be entered for a final grade.
- 4. Login to your course a minimum of three times per week.
- 5. Complete all assignments to the best of your ability.
- 6. Participate in the class discussions and demonstrate respect and consideration to the instructor and other students when they express themselves in discussion.
- 7. If you have any technical difficulties, you must contact the Office of Distance Education immediately at ubonline@bridgeport.edu.

It is the student's responsibility to familiarize himself or herself with and adhere to the standards set forth in the policies on cheating and plagiarism as defined in Chapters 2 and 5 of the Key to UB http://www.bridgeport.edu/pages/2623.asp or the appropriate graduate program handbook.

E-mail correspondence

It is imperative that you check your UB e-mail on a regular basis. All written correspondence, to include IDEAL and the University will be sent to you through his e-mail. The University can no longer correspond to your personal e-mail account(s).

Ethics (PHIL 203)

IDEAL Program Summer 2013

July 1-August 23, 2013

Location: Online

Instructor: Daniel Davies, Ph.D. Email: ddavies@bridgeport.edu

Office Phone (for messages): (914)-410-6565

FAX: (501) 648-3120

Prerequisite Course: ENGL 101

Course description:

Ethics deals with the "good life." Good can mean something different to every person. For many, good can mean what pleases me (or others) but, more often, at least in the context of ethics, good means what is "right" in my eyes (or those of others). Especially if the second option is chosen, our task is to define what "right" is. Our purpose is to consider and discuss ethical issues, both in light of our present time and in respect to history. Ethics embraces a number of sub-categories, including some that have appeared only recently: bioethics, business ethics, and gender ethics.

Ethics also deals with perspectives or viewpoints, including normative ethics, metaethics, utilitarian and deontological ethics, as well as ethical relativism. We will consider all of these from a mostly practical point of view. What do they mean to you? This introductory course is not intended to offer a comprehensive overview of all ethical questions. Rather, I have designed it to raise questions that confront most of us in the course of our everyday lives.

In particular, we will try to achieve the following:

Course objectives

- 1. Develop your ability to evaluate the ethical questions from all sides
- 2. Develop consensus-building skills (conflict resolution), at least conceptually
- 3. Develop your ability to make informed ethical judgments
- 4. Develop your own answers to ethical questions

For this, we will:

- Discuss the validity of assumptions commonly made when dealing with ethics
- Explore major ethical theories by major philosophers
- Discuss key themes in the ethical debate
- Explore several practical applications

Required Textbook:

Anthony Weston, A 21st Century Ethical Toolbox.

Oxford University Press, 2008, 2nd. ed.. Paperback, 478 pages.

ISBN: 978-0-19-530967-6 (pbk.)

Requirements (course work):

General requirements for this course consist of participation, preparedness, and initiative. Students are required to complete all readings, activities, and assignments each week throughout the course. Questions for online discussion will be indicated each week. Completing the readings and assignments on time is crucial to your involvement in the discussion.

Grading:

- Overall participation, including discussion on suggested themes and answering questions, demonstrating that the student has read the assigned material and become seriously involved in the process of reflecting on the issues (25%).
- Two brief essays describing, discussing, and evaluating opposing viewpoints on two separate, concrete issues, based on the review of textbook sections and other material (25%).
- Online exam (covering basic notions and issues introduced during the course); instructions and study questions will be given in advance (25%).
- Final project related to one of the topics discussed during the course, using additional, relevant material (after consultation with the instructor) (25%).

ACADEMIC POLICIES

Ethics Statement of Confidentiality

An integral component of an IDEAL course is student and faculty expression of personal experiences for the purpose of facilitating coursework. Students enrolled in the program are expected to honor confidentiality as it pertains to student disclosure. Shared information, comments, or opinions expressed by another student or the faculty member during the course of classroom discussion should never be used in a manner which is intended to humiliate, embarrass, harass, damage, or otherwise injure other students in their personal, public, or business lives. In addition, confidentiality must be upheld by not disclosing any information that would identify any particular individual.

Attendance Policy

Course attendance, especially in an online course, is an integral part of the academic experience; therefore, students are expected to be participative in all course activities and discussions. If you do not participate during the first week of the course, you will be dropped from the course. If you cannot participate in all the course activities you should consider dropping the course.

Drop Procedures

To drop a course, you must complete and submit a Schedule Change Request Form. The form can be accessed at the following web page:

http://www.bridgeport.edu/pages/2595.asp

Starting Fall 2012

- Drop a course after the start date.....$30.00 per transaction
- Drop prior to the start date......100% Tuition Refund
- Drop prior to the second week of the course......75% Tuition Refund
- Drop prior to the third week of the course......50% Tuition Refund
- Drop during/after the third week of the course............0% Tuition Refund

**Please note students will not be automatically dropped for not participating during the first week. Lack of participation for one week will reduce the final grade by one letter grade. If you have to miss the first week of the online course, you must contact your instructor in writing before the first week. However, a grade reduction will apply.

Please print and complete the form and fax the form to the IDEAL Office: 203-576-4537. Prior to dropping a course, the student should contact their IDEAL Academic Advisor to understand the implications to financial aid and/or degree plan progress.

Please review the Academic Calendar to see the fees for a drop and the impact on tuition. The Academic Calendar can be found at: http://www.bridgeport.edu/pages/2595.asp

Academic Dishonesty

We are committed to intellectual integrity in our academic pursuits; therefore, the IDEAL program prohibits all forms of academic dishonesty. Academic dishonesty is normally defined as, but not limited to, the following two categories:

Cheating – Using inappropriate sources of information in an assignment or on a test. The following are examples of cheating taken from real student experiences:

Case #1: A student is enrolled in an introductory computer-programming course. He has coworkers who program in the same language as his final project. As the end of the term approaches, he wonders how he will find the time to get the project finished, and asks one of his co-workers for help. His co-worker hands him a disk with a complete program similar to the kind required for the course project. The student makes minor modifications to the program, and submits it under his own name.

Case #2: A student enrolled in a religious studies course has never taken a humanities or history course, and is unsure about how to structure a research paper. She is doing research on the World Wide Web, and comes across a paper written by a student from another university. Using her computer mouse, she copies and pastes the document into her word processor. She goes to great lengths to re-word the paper in her own style, but essentially leaves the content and organization the same.

Plagiarism – Intentional as well as unintentional failure to acknowledge sources as well as the use of commercially available so-called "research papers" without full recognition of the source. Presenting as one's own, the ideas, words, or products of another. The following are examples of plagiarism taken from real student experiences:

Case #3: A student is conducting research for a Civil War research paper. He has reviewed work on the Internet as well as in the library. Finding helpful information, he has summarized his findings without citing his sources. He believes that minor paraphrasing is all that is necessary.

Case #4: A student is writing a paper that requires her to address specific topics and problems in the assigned course textbook. She takes the information directly from the textbook with slight modification, without giving any citation. She thinks that since it is the course textbook, she doesn't have to use quotations or citations.

Academic dishonesty applies to all courses, assignments or exams completed by students and submitted as their own original work, whether in person or by electronic means. The University does not tolerate cheating in any form. It is a serious breach of conduct with serious consequences. Instructors have the right to determine the appropriate penalty for academic dishonesty in their own classes; generally, however, such acts will result in a failing grade for the assignment and/or the course. The penalty for subsequent acts of academic dishonesty may include expulsion.

More information on how to recognize plagiarism can be found at this site: http://www.indiana.edu/~istd/plagiarism_test.html
